ARKANSAS

2008 Review

Arkansas Razorback Women's Track & Field

To open the season at the Arkansas Invitational, Katie Stripling soared to a career best and NCAA-leading pole vault of 13-8.25. The vault was also a NCAA provisional qualifier, the national leader in the event and tied for the fifth best among Razorback pole vaulters all time.

In the 60-meter hurdles, Makeatha Cooper took a modest preliminaries time of 8.47 and turned it into a solid NCAA provisional mark of 8.30 in the finals. Cooper's mark was a career best.

At the SEC-Big 10 Challenger, Stripling led a 1-2-7-8 finish by Razorbacks in the pole vault followed closely by senior Stephanie Irwin, freshman Tara Diebold and sophomore Kristen Keith. After securing the event win as the only competitor to clear 13-2.25, Stripling moved the bar up to the NCAA automatic mark of 13-9.25 and had three very good attempts at the height including one on a new pole that nearly gave her a final jump clearance.

Arkansas picked up a trio of season best performances in the 400 meters in Bloomington led by senior Tominque Boatright. Boatright's time of 54.87 would be good enough for second overall. Impressively, sophomore Courtenay Brown dropped her season and career best by nearly a second when she crossed the line in 55.18.

Senior Etienne Chaplin posted the nation's first NCAA qualifier in the pentathlon on the first day of the Razorback Invitational. Chaplin tallied 3,986 points to easily surpass her competition. Her score is also a career best for the senior and just 66 points off the NCAA automatic mark of 4,050.

Irwin cleared a season best 13-6.25 in the vault to earn her spot on the national list, her first qualifier of the season. Stripling also cleared 13-6.25 but has a better provisional qualifier from the opening weekend of the season.

The championship section of the 800-meter dash also led to a NCAA provisional qualifier as junior Janine Davis etched her name on the list of potential national competitors. Pulling ahead from her competition with 300 meters to go, Davis held on to the end to just dip under the provisional standard with a time of 2:08.88.

Christine Kalmer

Etienne Chaplin

Davis was also a part of one of the biggest surprises of the meet when she anchored the 4x400-meter relay team to a provisional qualifier. Davis was joined by Brown, Boatright and freshman Shelise Williams as the quartet snuck under the NCAA provisional time with a 3:37.52.

Senior Dacia Barr left no room for debate on her talent when she opened her 2008 track season with a provisional qualifier in the mile, clocking a time of 4:47.73.

Keeping her fantastic season going was Cooper in the 60-meter hurdles. During preliminaries of the competition, Cooper posted a career best 8.27 to lead the competition heading into finals. The time improves upon her provisional qualifier from the Arkansas Invitational.

The Razorbacks split their team up for the weekend of February 1st through the 2nd and got exactly what it wanted on the first day, additional NCAA qualifiers when junior Denise Bargiachi produced one in the 5,000 meters at the UW Invitational in Seattle, Wash., and Makeatha Cooper and Peter-Gaye Beckford qualified in the 60-meter hurdles and long jump at the J.D. Martin Invitational in Norman, Okla.

Bargiachi's qualifier came late on day one when she put together a 20 second personal best in the 5,000 meters to easily dip under the NCAA provisional standard, running 16:31.35. The J.D. Martin contingent also ran very well with Cooper matching her season best in the 60-meter hurdles at 8.27 seconds and Beckford sailing to a season best 20-1.5 in the long jump.

Junior Christine Kalmer became the first Razorback to post a NCAA automatic qualifier late on day two of the UW Invitational when she ran 9:13.62 over 3,000 meters.

Dacia Barr

Arkansas Razorback Women's Track & Field

Kalmer's time was good for sixth place overall and was the third collegiate finisher in the competition. Barr was just off the NCAA provisional standard of 9:34.00 when she ran 9:36.34.

Beckford was three-quarters of an inch from matching the Arkansas school record in the long jump at the New Balance Collegiate Invitational on day one at the Armory in New York City when she won the championship section of the long jump with a distance of 20-10.5.

Barr led the Razorbacks on the first day of the Tyson Invitational with a career best and NCAA provisional qualifier in the mile. Barr and freshman Jillian Rosen each ran provisional times in the race, finishing second and fourth overall in the Olympic development section of the competition.

Freshmen Tara Diebold and Catherine White and the Arkansas distance medley relay team brought the Razorback list of NCAA qualifiers to 13 on the final day of the Tyson Invitational when they posted provisional marks in the pole vault and 3,000 meters, respectively. Diebold cleared a season best 12-11.75 for her qualifier while White ran 9:32.77 to dip under provisional in her event. The quartet of Rosen, Williams, Davis and Barr were able to string together a solid distance medley relay of 11:18.33 on the way to a victory and provisional qualifier.

Chaplin was able to add SEC Champion to her list of credentials as she ran a fantastic 800 meters to move from second place to first in the pentathlon competition on the first day of the Southeastern Conference Championships. Chaplin used career bests in the 60-meter hurdles, high jump and long jump to propel herself to an NCAA automatic qualifying mark and notch the second best pentathlon performance in school history behind former Razorback great DeeDee Brown-Campbell.

Stripling added SEC Champion to her growing list of accolades on day two of the SEC Championships when she cleared 13-6.5, leading a 1-2-4-6 finish by the Razorback pole vaulters who grabbed 25 points for the Arkansas team score placing the Razorbacks in first place after two days of competition. Finishing a surprising second was Diebold who matched her teammate at 13-6.5, but finished second based on misses.

Arkansas' second major point score came from the 3,000 meters where White, Kalmer and Barr finished 2-4-7 for 15 points.

Bargiachi made it three titles in as many days for the Razorbacks after she took the 5,000-meter championship at the SEC Championships. The effort was the catalyst for a 35-point final day for the Razorbacks who ended with 93, a total which placed them third in the final team standings behind LSU (133) and Tennessee (116).

Arkansas also grabbed points in the mile when senior Dacia Barr took third overall in what became one of the toughest competitions of the weekend. Barr finished the competition at 4:42.74.

Irwin improved her chances to qualify for the NCAA Indoor Championships when she cleared a season best 13-7 at the Arkansas Last Chance. Irwin won the competition with her second-attempt clearance at the bar.

Barr and the 4x400-meter relay team solidified their season best marks for the NCAA Indoor Championships when they posted impressive times at the Alex Wilson Invitational in South Bend, Ind. Barr posted Arkansas' fourth NCAA automatic qualifier of the season, this one in the mile when she ran a career best 4:39.07 to win the Notre Dame hosted competition.

Using a new lineup, the Razorbacks' 4x400-meter relay team posted a two-second season best in the relay and moved up to fifth in the nation in the event.

Barr advanced in the mile NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships on day one, snaring one of the automatic qualifiers in her heat and leading the charge on what amounted to be a slow day. In the 5,000 meters, Bargiachi started a little too quickly for her own good, but hung on for a fantastic 10th-place finish. Bargiachi was right at her personal best when she ran 16:25.79 to claim 10th overall, her best finish at a national championship to earn All-America honors.

Barr wrapped up her indoor track career with a fourth-place finish in the mile at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Arkansas' 4x400-meter relay looked great from the start as Brown, Boatright, Williams and Farrell ran the third fastest time in Arkansas history when they clocked out at 3:34.66. The quartet finished seventh to earn All-America honors.

Courtenay Brown and Shelise Williams

Select members of the Arkansas Razorback track and field team competed in the Louisiana Classics at Louisiana-Lafayette to open the 2008 outdoor track season. Tominque Boatright, Courtenay Brown and Sarah Landau hit the regional-qualifying mark in their respective events and Landau matched the facility record in the pole vault. Landau, a junior making her Razorback debut, cleared 13-1.5 to win the pole vault and cleared the regional-qualifying height. In her efforts, she also tied the Ragin' Cajuns facility best.

Boatright competed in both the 200 meters and the 400 meters. She clocked a 24.17 to place second in the 200 meters and a 54.21 to earn a second-place finish in the 400 meters. Her 400-meter time was also a regional-qualifying mark. Brown finished third in the 400 meters with a regional-qualifying time of 54.61.

Peter-Gaye Beckford recorded an NCAA provisional-qualifying mark in the heptathlon on day two of competition at the 81st Clyde Littlefield Texas Relays. Beckford's point total of 5,081 was a personal best and marks the first time she has completed a collegiate heptathlon. She finished eighth in the field of 15. She opened day two winning the long jump competition with a leap of 20-0.5, also a regional-qualifying mark.

A little wet weather didn't affect the Razorbacks from posting a successful day of competition on day three of the Texas Relays. The Cardinal and White picked up three regional-qualifying marks and advanced two relays to the meet's finals. A solid outing for the relays, Arkansas clocked regional-qualifying times and advanced to the finals in the 4x100-meter and 4x400-meter relays.

Denise Bargiachi

In the pole vault, Landau, Katie Stripling and Tara Diebold cleared the regional-qualifying mark of 12-7.5.

At the Stanford Invitational, Megan Jackson finished 11th in a deep 3,000-meter steeplechase field with a clocking of 10:34.70, a regional-qualifying mark and a personal best. In the 10,000-meter run, Denise Bargiachi clocked a time of 33:55.73, an NCAA provisional-qualifying mark, to finish 12th. Dacia Barr finished sixth in her heat and sixth overall in the 1,500 meters. She clocked a regional-qualifying time of 4:20.27.

Arkansas battled blustery winds and cool temperatures at the John Jacobs Invitational in Norman, Okla. Despite the somewhat difficult conditions, the Razorbacks still managed to take three regional-qualifying marks back to Fayetteville.

Stephanie Irwin recorded her first regional-qualifying clearance of the season in the pole vault during the meet. With a height of 12-7.5, she finished third in the event and solidified her place in post-season competition.

Michelle Rossio marked a toss of 179-4 in the hammer throw, good for a ninth-place finish. Beckford returned to competition to hit another regional-qualifying mark in the long jump. Her third of the season, Beckford marked a leap of 20-1.75, a season best, to take fourth place.

Arkansas had a fine weekend of competition, splitting between the John McDonnell Invitational and Mt. SAC Relays. The Razorbacks recorded eight regional-qualifying marks for their growing list. Irwin led the way in the pole vault with her runner-up finish and a clearance of 13-7.75. A personal best, Irwin bettered her regional-qualifying mark. Paige Farrell also won the 800 meters and dipped below the regional-qualifying time of 2:09.80 with a 2:08.48.

At Mt. SAC Relays, the Razorbacks had stellar performances during the distance carnival. In various sections of the 5,000 meters, Arkansas got three regional-qualifying marks from its three competitors. Dacia Barr clocked the fastest 5,000-meter time with a 16:08.35, good for an 18th-place finish in her heat. Barr's time is also a 19-second personal best. Catherine White made her collegiate 10,000-meter debut. She clocked an NCAA provisional-qualifying time of 33:52.06.

Arkansas battled an angry Mother Nature at the Drake Relays. Cold temperatures and strong winds made for difficult competition conditions but the Razorbacks made the best of it. Makeatha Cooper clocked a prelim time of 13.81, her second-fastest of the season, in the 100-meter hurdles. She qualified for the meet's finals, finishing seventh of 21 competitors and third in her heat.

Arkansas' 4x400-meter relay clocked the fastest prelim time with a 3:39.92. The team of Brown, Shelise Williams, Farrell and Jennifer Fall, beating 33 other teams in the prelims, advanced to the finals in the event with their regional-qualifying time. Bad weather led to poor competition conditions on the final day and prevented the Razorbacks from getting into any kind of rhythm because of relentless wind gusts and chilly temperatures. For the second year in a row, Arkansas' sprint medley relay earned runner-up honors. Dominique Lauderdale, Beckford, Williams and Farrell finished second of the 18 competing teams. They combined for a time of 3:53.19.

Jillian Rosen set a personal best in the 1,500 meters. She finished sixth in the field of 13 with a clocking of 4:29.05.

Stripling set a school record in the pole vault at the Arkansas Twilight at John McDonnell Field. Stripling cleared the then-best height in the nation and the SEC. Stripling cleared 14-2 to place second in the pole vault. A personal best for Stripling, she placed second only to former Razorbacks and professional jumper April Steiner, who held the school record of 14-0 Stripling replaced.

Williams also punched her ticket to the NCAA Midwest Championships in the 400 meters. She finished third in the event with a personal-best and a regional-qualifying time of 54.03.

The Hogs found three improved regional-qualifying marks at the Payton Jordan Cardinal Invitational at Stanford.

Katie Stripling

Barr clocked the then-nation's fastest time in the 1,500 meters. She finished fourth of the 15 harriers and was the top collegian to cross the line. Her time, 4:13.77, was the third best in school history and improved her existing regional-qualifying mark by nearly seven seconds.

Also at Stanford, Christine Kalmer and White improved their 5K regional-qualifying times and personal bests with clockings of 16:13.28 and 16:14.93, respectively.

Beckford and Etienne Chaplin completed day one of competition in the SEC Championship heptathlon sitting eighth and 14th, respectively, after four events. Beckford totaled 2,879 points while Chaplin earned 2,492 points after the first day of competition. The shot put was the highlight event of the day for the Razorbacks as Beckford and Chaplin went 1-2. Beckford's winning toss of 45-6.25 was good for 785 points. Chaplin marked a throw of 39-5 to earn 662 points. Beckford's throw was a personal best and Chaplin's was the second best of her career.

Bargiachi and Miranda Walker scored 10 points in the 10K on day two of the SEC Championships. In the front pack for the entire 10,000-meter race, Bargiachi battled in a race that was not suited for her running style. With her running partner White sidelined with an illness, she was on her own in a tactical pace. Holding strong, she finished third with a time of 34:30.99. Walker earned a fifth-place finish and four points with her time of 35:13.26.

Beckford finished fifth in the heptathlon with 4,990 points. She started day two of the event with a win in the long jump. Her mark of 20-4.5 was good for 915 points and was a personal best which improved her regional-qualifying mark. She also set a new school record for the heptathlon long jump with her leap.

Stripling won the pole vault on day three of the SEC Championships which pitted the Cardinal and White second in the team standings with 52.5 points after nine events being scored. Stripling led a quartet of vaulters that scored 19.5 points for the Razorbacks. Stripling cleared 13-6.5 to take the title and became the first Razorback to win an indoor and outdoor SEC pole vault title in the same season. Landau finished fourth, clearing 12-11.5. Diebold was sixth (12-7.5) and Kristen Keith was seventh (12-1.5).

Arkansas also scooped up nine important points in the steeplechase with fourth- and fifth-place finishes from Caroline Peyton and Jackson, respectively. Peyton clocked a 10:44.68 while Jackson was quickly behind her in a time of 10:44.77.

The Razorbacks finished third in the team race with 88.5 points at the SEC Championships after day four. On the final day of competition, the Razorbacks earned a silver finish in the 4x400-meter relay and the distance harriers scored 16 points in the 5,000 meters. The 4x400-meter relay pushed the Razorbacks to a bronze finish in the team race with its silver finish to end the evening. Brown, Boatright, Farrell and Williams combined for a time of 3:35.40 and All-SEC honors.

Megan Jackson and Caroline Peyton

Kalmer punched her ticket to the NCAA Championships with a fourth-place finish in the 5,000 meters. Kalmer, battling among the top pack for most of the race, earned her top-five finish with a clocking of 16:30.52. Barr and Rosen both advanced to day two's final in the 1,500 meters. Running out heat one, Rosen finished fourth in her heat to earn the automatic advancement to the finals. She clocked a time of 4:28.85.

Barr won the 1,500 meters and Megan Jackson punched her ticket to the NCAA Championships on the final day of competition at the NCAA Midwest Regional Championships. With about 150 meters to go, Barr kicked it in and took the tape in a personal-best time of 4:13.16. In the same race, Rosen finished eighth (4:30.03).

The steeplechase also worked out well for the Razorbacks as Jackson earned a fourth-place finish and automatically advanced to the NCAA Championships. She clocked a time of 10:35.94.

Arkansas had three of its distance runners and Stripling in the pole vault competing on day one of the NCAA Championships. Kalmer was able to advance to the finals in the 5,000 meters. She finished seventh in her heat and 13th overall. She clocked a time of 16:49.53.

Stripling got her groove back with a tie for first-place in the pole vault. She cleared 13-5.25 to automatically advance to the finals.

Barr advanced to the finals and Bargiachi competed in the 10K for Arkansas on day two of the NCAA Championships. Barr got the chance to compete in the 1,500-meter finals by clocking a prelim time of 4:15.73 and a top four finish in her heat. Makeatha Cooper had a strong showing in the 100-meter hurdles and had advanced to the semifinals until the fourth prelim heat was contested. She clocked a time of 13.53 and was the first runner left out of the semis.

Stripling was the highlight of the day for Arkansas on day three of the NCAA Championships. She earned a bronze finish in the pole vault finals. With a clearance of 13-9.25, she earned the first All-America honor of her young career. Stripling was clean through 13-5.25 and missed her first bar at 13-9.25, the winning height. The top four vaulters all cleared 13-9.25 and Stripling was third on misses.

Barr earned All-America honors on day four of competition at the NCAA Championships. Arkansas finished 22nd in the team standings with 11 points. Barr, who repeated her finish from the event in 2007, was the fourth runner to cross the line in the 1,500-meter finals. In one of the fastest 1,500-meter races in collegiate history, she clocked a time of 4:11.02, her third PR of the season and the second-fastest time in school history.

2009 Preview

Arkansas Razorback Women's Track & Field

Jillian Rosen

Led by seniors Denise Bargiachi, Peter-Gaye Beckford, Etienne Chaplin, Christine Kalmer and Sarah Landau, head coach Lance Harter's 2009 version of the Razorbacks is littered with experience and talented and sprinkled with budding youth who will make an immediate impact.

"We have a lot of experience returning and obviously we have to depend on the leadership of the All-Americans and also the experience of those who have competed at some of the highest levels," said Harter. "Then we look at the newcomers who are a young, sprint crew. A lot of them are the 400-meter types that we feel very confident in."

Denise Bargiachi will be one of the key seniors leading the team this season in hopes of having a repeat performance of last season.

Bargiachi has steadily improved during her tenure with the Razorbacks and will lead a young group of distance harriers with Christine Kalmer. Bargiachi reached new heights in 2008 as an indoor and outdoor national qualifier, the SEC Indoor 5K title and NCAA Indoor All-America honors.

"I met with Denise (Bargiachi) before the season began and she had really high goals like all the seniors," said Harter. "Both she and Christine Kalmer have deliberate dreams and I think that holds true with everybody. All of it really hinges on wanting to score at the NCAA level. If you can score at the SEC level, that's a great predictor of what is going to happen at the NCAA level."

Kalmer is the school record holder at 3,000 meters and was a 2008 NCAA qualifier in the 3,000 meters indoors and the 5,000 meters outdoors.

Courtenay Brown, a junior, will also be looked at to lead the team this year with Shelise Williams in the quarter-mile as they come into their junior and sophomore years, respectively, looking to greatly improve on their 2008 seasons.

Originally coming in as a long jumper, Peter-Gaye Beckford has shown promise in the javelin and the multi events and is coming in to her senior season looking to have her best year to record. Beckford, who only has indoor eligibility remaining, will be hoping to improve upon her personal bests in the long jump, javelin, and pentathlon and heptathlon.

"Peter-Gaye knows this is her senior year and a year that she wants to make her mark," said Harter. "She has done all the right things to prepare for the upcoming season."

Etienne Chaplin, the 2008 SEC pentathlon champion and NCAA qualifier, comes into the 2009 season with only outdoor eligibility remaining. Chaplin, who was recovering from knee surgery last year and only competed on a limited basis outdoors, will be hoping to compete at full speed during the 2009 season.

Arkansas' stellar pole vault crew is back in action for 2009. Veterans Katie Stripling, Tara Diebold, Kristen Keith and Sarah Landau welcome newcomers Tina Sutej, a native of Slovenia whose best is 14-0, Janice Keppler, a transfer from Eastern Michigan, and Lauren Kegley. Keppler was a national and regional qualifier and a conference champion while competing for the EMU Eagles.

"I think during the fall training program, we were really excited about our pole vaulters," said Harter. "They are stronger, faster and more mature and they have been down the road before."

Led by assistant coach Bryan Compton, the Hogs have dominated SEC competition in years past and this year looks to be no different with 2008 Outdoor All-American and two-time SEC Champion Stripling and SEC indoor runner-up Diebold returning to competition.

In his 13th season, Lonnie Green leads a young but talented sprints, hurdles, and jumps group. At the helm of the sprints crew are Brown and Williams. With a deep group of potential 400-meter runners and potential relay legs, Greene looks to his veterans to help nurture and develop the underclassmen. Many of the newcomers also have the possibility of taking legs of the 4x400-meter relay in addition to the mile relay.

Whitney Jones is another name to look for among Greene's student-athletes. She set the Arkansas state record in the triple jump and holds the Arkansas Meet of Champions record in the same event. She is a two-time state heptathlon champion and a three-time state champion at 100 and 200 meters, triple jump and long jump. Jones joins Beckford and Chaplin to add depth in the vertical jumps events.

As the 2009 indoor and outdoor season begins, Harter looks to continue the balanced approach to each season (indoor, outdoor, cross-country) as if each season was equally important. Harter refers to how there are very few schools remaining that focus on each season equally.

"Everybody has either sacrificed cross-country or sacrificed track and field to gain recognition in one or the other," said Harter. "Many think that we are still one of the few programs that try to go with the balanced approach and be competitive in all areas and I think that is something to be real proud of and something we can continue."

Harter is very excited about the SEC competition this year. With the SEC nationally competitive in every event, there can be no let-up at any point during the year for Harter and his team.

"The conference explodes in every event, there is just no weakness," said Harter. "Part of that is because you have great coaches, great programs, and everybody is trying to find a niche. It's interesting because our peers in other conferences get excited about seeing the results of the SEC because they know it's faster, quicker, and stronger. It's the trademark of the SEC."

The Razorbacks begin the indoor season with the Arkansas Quad (Jan. 9), the Missouri Southern Invitational (Jan. 16-17) and the Razorback Invitational (Jan. 23-24). The first road trip of the season will come the last weekend of January for the UW Invitational and the Penn State National.

Next up is the New Balance Collegiate Invitational (New York, N.Y.; Feb. 6-7) and the Tyson Invitational in Fayetteville (Feb. 13-14).

Indoor championship season begins with the SEC Championships, Feb. 27-March 1, in Lexington, Ky.

Arkansas will host a Last Chance Meet on March 6 before the NCAA Championships are contested March 13-14 in College Station, Texas.

The outdoor season begins with the Stanford Invitational (March 27-28), Florida Relays (April 1-4) and John Jacobs Invitational at Oklahoma (April 10-11). The Razorbacks will host the John McDonnell Invitational (April 17-18), travel some student-athletes to Mt. SAC Relays (April 17-18) and then take on Drake Relays (April 23-25).

Outdoor championship season begins with the SEC Championships, May 14-17, in Gainesville, Fla. Next up are the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships, May 29-30, in Louisville, Ky. Arkansas will end the season hosting the NCAA Championships, June 10-13, at John McDonnell Field.

She won the championship section of the long jump with a leap of 20-10.5 at the New Balance Collegiate Invite. Her mark was a personal and season best and automatically qualified her for the NCAA Championships. Also at the Armory, she finished eighth in the triple jump (40-3.25). She competed in both jumps at the Tyson Invitational, finishing 17th in the long (18-11.25) and 14th in the triple (39-3.25). She scored points for the Hogs in the pentathlon, the long and triple jumps at the SEC Championships. Her pentathlon score of 3,550 points was a personal best and finished her in sixth place. She finished fourth in the long jump with a mark of 20-7 and was seventh in the triple jump (40-8.25). Her triple jump was also a personal best.

She ended the season with a 17th-place finish and a long jump of 19-8 at the NCAA Championships. Outdoor: In her first collegiate heptathlon, she notched an NCAA provisional qualifier at Texas Relays with her point total of 5,081. Also in Austin, she ran the second leg of the 4x100-meter relay that clocked a regional-qualifying time of 45.61 and finished eighth. She marked her second regional mark, of the eight during the season, in the long jump at the John Jacobs Invitational where she finished fourth with a 20-10.75. The Staff

Head Coach Lance Harter

Head Coach Lance Harter

The most successful coach in University of Arkansas and Southeastern Conference women's cross country and track and field history, Lance Harter is in his 19th year at the helm of the Razorback program. During his tenure, Arkansas has won 19 SEC titles (13 cross country, three indoor track, and three outdoor track) and earned six NCAA trophies, including four national runner-up awards in cross country.

The high water mark to his career at Arkansas, so far, had to be the 1999-2000 and 2000-01 seasons when his teams won a league-record seven consecutive SEC titles including a pair of triple crowns (titles in cross country, indoor track and outdoor track in the same academic year). Harter's Razorbacks were just the second team in league history to accomplish the task, then repeated the performance in 2000-01 making them the only squad in the SEC's 24-year history of women's cross country and track and field to accomplish the task twice.

Those banner seasons were not without other accolades outside of the SEC titles.

During that time, Harter's Razorbacks posted school-best finishes at both the NCAA Indoor (third) and Outdoor (fifth) Championships, as he led his teams to five top-six NCAA finishes. On a personal level, Harter was awarded numerous honors including six SEC Coach of the Year Awards, six South Central Region Coach of the Year trophies and three U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches' Association (USTFCCCA) National Coach of the Year honors.

Harter's coaching prowess has been noticed not just by his peers but by national organizations like USA Track & Field who have asked Harter to coach at several international competitions. He has represented his country five times including the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain, where he was an assistant coach. His most recent appointment to a national coaching position came in 2003 when he was the head women's coach for Team USA's World Cross Country team in Lausanne, Switzerland.

With each passing season, Harter's list of accolades continues to grow. Over the past six years, Harter has been inducted into four Hall of Fames including the prestigious Arkansas Hall of Honor where he became the first current Razorback women's coach to be enshrined and just the second ever. He has also seen his name bronzed in the Arkansas Track and Field Hall of Fame, Mt. SAC Relays Hall of Fame and Cal Poly Hall of Fame.

Harter is the most decorated women's coach in SEC history. He has been awarded the conference's coach of the year honor 19 times and is the only coach to ever earn awards in cross country, indoor and outdoor track. He has been given a regional coach of the year award 17 times during his career and national coach of the year four times.

From a team perspective, Harter's influence on Arkansas cross country and track has been tremendous. He has led both the cross country and indoor track teams to number one national rankings, the only number one rankings by any women's team in Arkansas history. During his career, Harter has brought seven NCAA team trophies back to Fayetteville: four national runner-up awards in cross country, a third place for cross country and a third and a fourth-place finish for indoor track.

While the end of the millennium raised the bar for the Razorbacks, Harter challenged himself to exceed the lofty expectations heaped upon his team. Since 2001, Harter has guided Arkansas to seven SEC Championships, including two in track, and watched former Razorback athletes win five medals in the Olympic Games. His eye for talent has been his best asset and developing those skills runs a close second. He often likens his coaching style and philosophy to a series of escalators where athletes get on at the ground floor when they arrive as freshmen and get off at the penthouse upon graduation.

A perfect example was a raw talent from Kendallville, Ind., that Harter groomed first into a conference and national champion then into the greatest female track athlete in SEC history. When Amy Yoder Begley completed her collegiate career with a pair of national titles, she became the all-time leader in SEC history with 15 individual championships, the all-time leader for a female athlete at Arkansas with 15 All-America honors, and only the third track athlete in conference history to become the SEC Athlete of the Year.

Harter arrived at Arkansas in 1990 after 11 years of building the nation's top Division II program at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo.

His teams at Cal Poly-SLO won a Division II record 14 national championships, including eight consecutive cross country and six track and field titles. He was Division II national coach of the year 10 times.

From the beginning of NCAA Division II championships in 1981, Harter's teams controlled the awards ceremonies. The Mustangs finished runner-up the initial season and after that ran off a string of eight straight titles. In track and field, Harter won five NCAA and one AIAW championship.

Before coaching at Cal Poly-SLO, Harter was the men's and women's track and field coach at Smoky Hill High School in Denver, Colo. During his five years with SHHS, his teams won five cross country and five track conference titles. Before SHHS, he was an assistant coach for two years at Colorado State.

A 1972 graduate of Texas Tech, Harter set several school records as a member of the cross country and track teams. A dean's list honoree every semester at Tech, he earned his degree in physical education and American history. He earned his master's in education from Colorado State in 1974, focusing on physiology of exercise. He has completed doctoral hours at both Colorado and Colorado State.

Harter and his wife, Kim, are the parents of five children, Jeff, Meagan, Alison, Christie and Josh.

Associate Head Coach Rolando Greene

Associate head coach Rolando Greene begins his 13th season with the University of Arkansas with the start of the 2009 season. Charged with handling the sprints, hurdles, jumps and multis corps for the Razorbacks, Greene brings a world-wide recruiting base and a keen eye for spotting and developing talent.

Promoted to associate head coach in the spring of 2000, Greene put together back-to-back unprecedented seasons in 2004 and 2005 when two of his athletes swept the 200-meter national championships at the NCAA indoor and outdoor meets the first year, then backed it up with a sweep of the 800-meter titles in '05. The 2004 duo were also participants at the Athens Olympics, leaving no question as to why he won the national assistant coach of the year award.

One of the most humble men in and around collegiate athletics, Greene is quick to give credit to the student-athletes that he has coached but his peers had something else in mind in the spring of 2004 when they awarded him the United States Track and Cross Country Coaches' Association's (USTFCCCA) National Assistant Coach of the Year. He was also named the USTFCCCA's Mideast Region

Associate Head Coach Lonnie Greene

Sprint Coach of the Year in 2007.

Greene's meteoric rise as a developer of talent began in the summer of 2003 when he was named an assistant coach on the national athletics team for his native Bahamas at the North America, Central America and Caribbean games. Since that time he has been one of the nation's premier coaches in the sprints whose athletes have earned four NCAA individual titles, five SEC individual championships, an NCAA Mideast Regional title, a collegiate record and 29 All-America honors.

At the Games of the XXVIII Olympiad in Beijing, China, former Razorbacks Veronica Campbell (Jamaica) and LaShaunte'a Moore (USA) were key members of their respective teams with Campbell winning her second Olympic gold medal in the 200 meters.

While Greene's student-athletes continue to raise the bar, it was a tough but non-descript task that he is most proud. In 2006, Tominque Boatright broke both the University of Arkansas' indoor and outdoor 400-meter records giving athletes coached by Greene a clean sweep of every sprints, hurdles and relays record. His assault on those marks began in his first season at Arkansas, but as the 2007 season began, none of the 13 records are older than 1998 and all but one was set after the millennium.

Not just a sprints and hurdles coach, Greene is also an active contributor in the middle distances, coaching many of the Razorbacks' 800-meter runners. His most recent star, Aneita Denton, became just the third woman in NCAA history to sweep national championships in both the indoor and outdoor 800 meters. Denton also posted the third-fastest indoor 800 in NCAA history and was the anchor of Arkansas' 4x800-meter relay team that ran the fastest time in the world in the spring of 2005.

Greene is deeply involved in coaching Arkansas' multi-event athletes as well. During his time with the Razorbacks, Arkansas has produced four All-America student-athletes in the tough event including a pair of 5,700-point heptathlon scorers during the 2000 season. His work with Gi-Gi Miller in 2000-01 was the foundation of her rise to U.S. Champion in the heptathlon at the 2006 national championships.

During Greene's 12-year tenure at Arkansas, he has coached five Olympians, two USTFCCCA South Central Region Athletes of the Year, five NCAA individual champions, 25 athletes who have earned 57 All-America honors in 11 different events and two SEC female runners of the year.

Prior to arriving in Fayetteville in the fall of 1996, Greene was an assistant coach with the Minnesota Golden Gophers' women's track team. He spent six seasons as an assistant at what is now Missouri State University after graduating from Murray State.

A native of Nassau, Bahamas, Greene is married to former Razorback LaTayna Stewart, who ran in the early '80s. The Greene family includes a daughter, Charisse, 21; four sons, Cameron, 11; Chandler, 8; Isaiah, 7; Jacob, 6; and two grandchildren, Tylan and Caleb.

Assistant Coach Bryan Compton

Joining the Razorbacks in the fall of 1998, Bryan Compton has proven to Arkansas that he was an invaluable addition for its coaching staff. In 10 years of working with the Razorback throwers and vaulters, Compton's athletes have set 12 school records a total of 60 times, not including numerous heptathlon marks.

Arkansas' resident vault expert was recognized for his contributions during the spring of 2005 when he was named the United States Track and Field Cross Country Coaches' Association's (USTFCCCA) Midwest Region Assistant Coach of the Year. That season his athletes earned two All-America honors, broke a pair of school records and each of the athletes he coached earned a spot at the NCAA Midwest Regional Championships including four pole vaulters.

Compton's expertise in the vault is the biggest addition to the Arkansas attack. Over the past 10 years, he has coached six athletes to 17 All-America honors, six Southeastern Conference championships and a pair of SEC championship records. One of his most recent protégés, Jodi Unger, earned four all-America honors during the 2006 and 2007 seasons and was the national runner-up in the pole vault outdoors as a senior.

Assistant Coach Bryan Compton

In 2008, Katie Stripling carried on the strong pole vault tradition as she became the first Razorback to win both the SEC indoor and outdoor titles in the same season. She re-set the school record to 14-2 at the Arkansas Twilight and then to 14-3.25 at the NACAC Championships, earned her first All-America honor at the NCAA Outdoor Championships and won the vault title at the 2008 NACAC Championships in Mexico. Her bronze finish at the NCAA Championships picked up the All-America certificate.

Prior to Stripling and Unger's emergence, Compton was best known for his work with former Razorback and 2008 Olympian April Steiner Bennett. A novice in the event when she arrived on campus in the fall of 2000, Steiner Bennett quickly became a household name and was the first woman in SEC history to clear 13 feet in the event indoors. She earned three consecutive All-America honors indoors and set the standards for all Arkansas vaulters with school records exceeding 14 feet, both indoors and out.

Compton's magic touch is not limited to the vault, but to the other disciplines he coaches as well. In the throws, Compton guided Marie LeJour to Arkansas' first SEC Commissioner's Trophy by a non-distance runner, as well as its first conference championship in a throwing event. The summer following her breakthrough year, LeJour went on to win the first of her two Canadian National Championships in the discus.

Assistant Coach Bryan Compton

Added to his list of responsibilities in 2002 was the high jump, and Compton once again produced. He coached Jessica Johnson to Arkansas school records both indoors and out, breaking the then-oldest school records in the books. With the records in hand, Johnson went after bigger and better things, taking Arkansas' first-ever All-America honor in the high jump and finishing as national runner-up in the spring of 2003 with a clearance of 6-1.25.

Not to be ignored is Compton's work with Arkansas' multi-event personnel. His athletes have broken each of the Razorback event records in the multi-event throws and have earned a total of six All-America honors. In the spring of 2000, Arkansas qualified three heptathletes for the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

Prior to his time at Arkansas, Compton made stops at Wichita State, Illinois State and Texas Tech for a combined eight-plus years. During that time period, he coached athletes to NCAA finals, Olympic Trials and numerous conference championships.

Compton was a collegiate athlete at Angelo State University where he was a two-time national qualifier in the long jump and sprint relay. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education and biology from Angelo State in 1985. He has a son, Austin, who is nine.

In Compton's first year, he coached former Razorback Tali Griner to a second-place finish in the indoor pole vault at the SEC Championships with a then-impressive vault of 11-9. Griner also scored at the SEC Outdoor Championships that season with Israeli national records in the event both indoors and out. Compton's first season also saw a pair of Razorbacks place in the hammer throw outdoors and another protege, Monica Ballow, finish third in the weight throw.

Compton came to Arkansas from Wichita State, where he served as assistant track coach in charge of throws. Over three years with the Shockers, Compton coached five All-Americans who garnered a total of eight honors.

Not only has Compton been an accomplished coach over the past 16-plus years, but he was also a good athlete in his own right. A varsity track athlete at Angelo State, Compton was a national qualifier for the Division II national championships in both 1983 and 1984 in the long jump and the sprint relay. Compton earned his bachelor's degree in physical education and biology from Angelo State in 1985. He has a son, Austin, who is eight.

National Champions

Diann Ousley - 1979 Indoor 600 Yards

As a junior in high school, Diann Ousley was one of the best in the country, but an injury as a senior kept coaches from recruiting her. Coming to Arkansas, Ousley regained the form from her junior year and won the Razorbacks' first national title.

Competing in the 600-yard run at the 1979 national collegiate meet, Ousley shocked the country by beating the defending national champion, Lee Ballenger of Colorado, and the meet record holder, Doraine Lambelet of Villanova, for the title. Her time of 1:21.22 is still a school record in the event and paced the Razorbacks to a fifth-place national finish.

Diann Ousley

Jamie Park - 1991 Outdoor 10,000 Meters

A transfer from Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo and a Division II national champion at 10,000 meters as a freshman, Jamie Park barely made the NCAA Championship meet as the 16th entry in a 16-person field. With a career best of 34:15.08, no one expected Jamie Park to step in at Arkansas and compete for a national championship as a sophomore.

"Carole Zajac of Villanova was the favorite," Arkansas head coach Lance Harter reflected. "Jamie would always peak at the right time but she had never run 33 minutes in the 10K."

The race began with a large pack in the front where Park would sit between fourth and sixth throughout most of the race. At the five-mile mark, Park moved into the lead which she did without much competition. Soon after she would look to her coach for the green light to move on. With the signal, Park pushed the pace of the race and powered the last 800 meters around the track to finish in an astonishing 33:15.08. Park's championship was the first NCAA title in Arkansas history as well as the first outdoor championship.

Jamie Park

Trine Pilskog - 1995 Indoor Mile

The 1995 indoor track championship was a special time for the Razorbacks as two individuals won NCAA championships. The first to accomplish the feat was Norwegian Trine Pilskog in the mile. Pilskog qualified for the NCAA meet with a time of 4:42.27, but struggled during the prelims of the national championship, finishing 10th with a mark of 4:50.95.

Trine Pilskog

"Trine was the last person to qualify for the finals," Lance Harter said. "She barely got in by just hundredths of a second. Our plan for the finals was to sit in and let the field do all the work."

Pilskog followed the game plan set forth by her coach and put herself in decent position with 400 meters to go. With just 250 meters left in the race, Pilskog rose to a new level, according to Harter, and pulled away from the field to win the race with a personal best 4:39.19. Her winning time was the Norwegian indoor national record as well as a Razorback record.

National Champions

Sarah Schwald - 1995 Indoor 3,000 meters

Sarah Schwald was a national competitor in many races but failed to win a national title until the 1995 indoor season. Entering the championships with a mark of 9:35.2 for 3,000 meters, Schwald improved during the prelims of the race with a time of 9:33.16, which placed her in good position heading into the finals where she would have to face the favorite, Christine Stief of Boston University.

"Sarah was definitely a contender for the title," said Lance Harter. "When she saw Trine Pilskog win her national championship, there was no stopping her in that race. She was extremely focused."

The race began with a large pack at the front of the field but many of the contenders started to fall off the lead group as the race wore on. Soon it came down to Schwald and Stief, and with 400 meters to go, both looked very strong.

"They both looked good with two laps to go," Harter said. "Then all of a sudden, Sarah passed Stief and the race was over."

Schwald would run a lifetime best 9:19.90 to win the race, less than one second ahead of Stief's 9:20.69. The title was Arkansas' second of the 1995 indoor championships, a feat that wasn't duplicated until 2001, and allowed Arkansas to finish fourth overall at the meet.

Sarah Schwald

Amy Yoder Begley - 2000 Indoor 5,000 Meters

Amy Yoder Begley

Amy Yoder Begley entered the 2000 indoor track meet as a perennial bridesmaid. The junior had finished second or third in several NCAA competitions. All that changed on March 10, 2000, when Yoder Begley entered the 5,000-meter run at the NCAA Championships in Fayetteville with the fourth-fastest mark in the country.

The race began like most distance competitions at national meets: a lead pack takes the race out and tries to thin the contenders for the top spot. Yoder Begley stayed with the lead group through the midway point where it became clear that there would be only two people vying for the lead, Yoder Begley and Carrie Tollefson of Villanova. Tollefson would sit on Yoder Begley's side for most of the race, but with 600 meters to go, Yoder Begley made her final move and left Tollefson in her wake. Crossing the finish line in 15:46.89, Yoder Begley won her first national title, set the Arkansas school record and became the first Arkansas athlete to ever win a national championship in Fayetteville.

Tracy Robertson - 2001 Indoor Mile

Entering the 2001 NCAA Indoor Championships, Tracy Robertson held the second-fastest time in the competition as well as a chip on her shoulder. A finalist in the event in 2000, Robertson was among the leaders before getting tripped midway through the race. She would recover for fourth in 2000 but had a point to prove as the 2001 race began.

"Tracy was the epitome of the philosophy of the Arkansas program," Lance Harter would say months later. "She got on the escalator at the bottom and rode it right to the top."

Robertson hung with the leaders for four of the eight laps, then took control. She would be challenged throughout by Mary Jane Harrelson of Appalachian State, the race favorite, but with each surge that Harrelson made, Robertson would fend it off and add more distance between herself and her opposition.

Harrelson would make another strong push with one lap remaining, but as Robertson covered the move, Harrelson would drop off the pace giving Robertson a clear path to victory. Crossing the line in 4:39.10, Robertson established a personal best in the race and beat her competition by three seconds.

National Champions

Gi-Gi Miller - 2001 Indoor Triple Jump

Gi-Gi Miller was a phenomenal athlete who never concentrated on just one event. A heptathlete by trade, she was a threat in every competition, despite the distance or specialty, and as the 2001 indoor triple jump began, Miller was focused.

"Gi-Gi had to overcome some injuries during indoor track and because of her versatility it took a little longer than we expected," said Lance Harter. "As a competitor, Gi-Gi has the unique ability to psychologically and physiologically go to the next level. During that competition, she just kept getting better with each jump."

Miller went into the finals with a big jump of 43-4.5 which placed her second overall. As the finals began, Miller's talent shined. Opening the final three jumps of competition with a mark of 43-8.75, Miller took the lead and never relinquished it. She would improve her mark with her fifth jump to 44-4, despite a big leap by UCLA's Deana Simmons to end the competition.

Amy Yoder Begley

Amy Yoder Begley - 2001 Outdoor 10,000 Meters

Arguably the greatest distance runner in SEC women's track history, Amy Yoder Begley put a final stamp on her career when she became the first Razorback ever to win a second NCAA individual title. Coming off an Achilles injury, Yoder Begley was not looked at as one of the favorites at the 2001 NCAA Outdoor Track Championships, but she would quickly move up with the leaders and assert her position.

"Our plan was to stay near the front," Lance Harter said. "We wanted to stay in control and resist any challenges. Then the field began to string out and there were a series of challenges that she conquered. A little later, she was able to establish her own challenges and three-quarters of the way through the race was hers."

Exhausted from the heat, Yoder Begley collapsed across the finish line well out in front of her competition for her second national title and her 15th All-America honor, both Razorback school records.

Veronica Campbell - 2004 Indoor 200 Meters

Touted as one of the best sprinters of her age group, Veronica did not disappoint the fans at the Randal Tyson Track Center when she entered the finals of the 200 meters with the third-fastest time during prelims. Set up in a prime lane for the final, Campbell roared down the back straight showing her competition why she held the fastest time in the world up to that point.

"Any time you go into a meet as the favorite or the co-favorite, there are always some nerves," Lance Harter said. "Veronica had to run the collegiate record just to win the race, which shows you just how good the competition was. This may have been the greatest 200-meter race ever."

Campbell crossed the finish line in 22.44 seconds, breaking the collegiate record by .05 seconds. The time also set the standard for all runners across the globe as it stood as the fastest 200-meter time in the world during the 2004 indoor season.

LaShaunte'a Moore - 2004 Outdoor 200 Meters

Entering the 2004 NCAA Outdoor Championships with the nation's 26th-fastest time, not many expected LaShaunte'a Moore to be a factor in the 200 meters. She became more than a factor when she completed an Arkansas sweep of the 200-meter dash during the '04 seasons. Getting out of the blocks well, Moore was with the leaders at the end of the curve, then used her strength to pull away as the field entered the straightaway.

Facing a world-class field, Moore held off the challengers to cross the finish line in stunning fashion at 22.37 seconds, well ahead of the favorite, Muna Lee of LSU, who finished at 22.55 seconds.

"Phenomenal," Lance Harter said. "Coach (Rolando) Greene called it before we went to nationals, that LaShaunte'a would have a great meet and she certainly did."

Moore's win in the 200 was Arkansas' 10th individual national title and third in the sprints. It also capped off a tremendous season for Arkansas in the ballistic events which re-wrote the Razorback record books.

Aneita Denton - 2005 Indoor 800 Meters

As the 2005 NCAA Indoor Championships approached, all the buzz in the 800 meters was about Aneita Denton and Nicole Cook of Tennessee who had battled two weeks prior to the meet at the SEC Championships to the tune of the collegiate record and third-fastest collegiate mark. Cook got the best of Denton in that race, but Denton would not let the disappointment get her down.

Aneita Denton

Starting in a pack, Denton made a move with 400-meters to go and built a small lead that was quickly covered by Neisha Bernard-Thomas of LSU. Another charge by Bernard-Thomas put her shoulder-to-shoulder with Denton, but the strength of Denton allowed her to hold off the LSU runner and claim her first national title.

"That couldn't have happened to a better individual," Lance Harter said. "Aneita deserved to win the national championship. She worked really hard, and winning the title is a testament to that work. I am so proud of her."

Denton's victory made her the fifth Razorback to win a national indoor title since the completion of the Randal Tyson Track Center and was the first for a Razorback in the 800 meters.

Aneita Denton - 2005 Outdoor 800 Meters

Taking the unfamiliar roll of being the one to beat at the 2005 NCAA Outdoor Championships, Aneita Denton worked her way through two rounds of competition before setting up to face a tough field in the finals. The defending NCAA indoor champion entered the final with the fastest time and got off to a fast start with the field. In third place at the break, Denton found herself caught in a box as the runners merged and waited for her way out. The opportunity came just 100 meters later, and Denton cruised to the front of the field to run off the shoulder of Cal Poly's Maggie Vessey. Hitting the homestretch, Denton put it in another gear as she pulled away from the field to sweep the national 800-meter titles.

"What a race," Lance Harter said. "Aneita definitely deserves the title. She could have panicked when she got caught in the box, but kept her head and executed when she got the opportunity."

The sweep of the national 800-meter titles by Denton made her just the third woman in NCAA history to accomplish that task and the first since two-time Olympian Hazel Clark in 1998. She also earned the honor of being the first Razorback to win two NCAA titles in the same academic year, and just the second to win more than one national championship.

Southeastern Conference Championships

The University of Arkansas and the Razorbacks have been competing in the Southeastern Conference since the fall of 1991 and in that time have been one of, if not the, best track and field institutions. With SEC team championships dating back as far as 1981, more than 20 years, it would seem unreasonable to expect that the Razorbacks would be a significant part of the league's history.

To the contrary, since Arkansas joined the toughest collegiate track and field conference in the country, it has won more team titles (19) than all but one other institution and has taken a team championship in 19 of 50 opportunities, an unprecedented 38 percent of the time. Pushing the Razorback's team success have been the individuals. Former Razorback and U.S. Olympian Amy Yoder Begley ended her outstanding career with 15 individual conference championships, five more than any other woman in SEC history. Along with Yoder Begley, former Razorback and U.S. Olympian Deena Drossin also cracks into the top 10 with seven individual championships.

Event Winners

The Razorbacks have won numerous event titles over the years with the total number reaching well over 400 in just the past decade. While every school can claim championships from small meets, it is only a select few that can say it has won both individual and relay championships at some of the biggest indoor and outdoor meets in the country.

Representing the State of Arkansas for Scholarship, Service and Athletics

The University of Arkansas received its 12th NCAA Woman of the Year for the state in 2004 with the selection of All-American high jumper Jessica Johnson. Since the first state representatives were selected in 1991, a Razorback has been a part of the National Woman of the Year banquet in 12 of the 14 years of the program.

The cross country and track and field teams have provided a good portion of Arkansas' NCAA Woman of the Year recipients. Cynthia Moore was Arkansas' first woman of the year back in 1991 and since then has been followed by six others that have competed for the Razorbacks on the track. Kim Mount was the state representative in 1994, followed by 10-time All-American Megan Flowers in 1997. Volleyball All-American and track walk-on Jessica Field represented the Razorbacks in 1999 before Jessica Dailey became the University's first top 10 finisher in 2000. 15-time All-American Amy Yoder Begley was selected in 2001 followed by All-American Jessica Johnson in 2004.

Randal Tyson Track Center

One of the newest facilities on the University of Arkansas campus is the Randal Tyson Track Center, which was dedicated on February 12, 2000. The new facility was the vision of former UA head coach John McDonnell and Athletic Director Frank Broyles and continues the tradition of building some of the finest facilities in the nation at Arkansas.

In its first year of operation, the $8 million facility hosted the Tyson Invitational, a meet on the Golden Spike Tour, the 2000 Southeastern Conference Championships and the 2000 NCAA Indoor Championships. In 2001 and 2002, the Randal Tyson Track Center once again served as the host for the Golden Spike Tour's Tyson Invitational and the NCAA Indoor Championships.

During the 2003 season, three events were held at the state-of-the-art facility: the SEC West Challenge, the Tyson Invitational and the NCAA Championships. The 2004 campaign saw four exciting events take place at the Randal Tyson Track Center, including the Arkansas, Razorback and Tyson Invitational meets and the national championships.

The schedule was full in 2005 as the Arkansas, Razorback and Tyson Invitationals and the SEC and NCAA Championships were all held at the Tyson Track Center. The Razorbacks are slated to host the NCAA Championships through the year 2008 and again in 2010.

A new 36x20 custom video scoreboard system by Daktronics was installed in time for the 2005 NCAA Championships. It features a 23x13 video display screen with instant replay, electronic timing and scoring capabilities.

The track itself is a 200-meter, 60-degree banked track that has 55-meter straightways running the entire length of the facility. It also includes men's and women's jumping runways and pits. The surface of the track is red and gray Mondo and was repainted in 2003.

With all of the big name events that are held in the facility, the Tyson Track Center was built to handle the demands for the many media outlets. The press box is two-tiered offering 50 seats and has an announcer's booth. There are four elevated camera positions located around the track. A media room is also available in the north concourse.

John McDonnell Field

Home to the most successful program in NCAA history, John McDonnell Field has been transformed into one of the top outdoor track and field facilities in the nation. Named for legendary head coach John McDonnell, the winner of 42 NCAA national championships, the facility is one of only two IAAF Class 1 certified track and field complexes in the U.S. and the first such facility on a collegiate campus.

The state-of-the-art competition areas include a nine-lane Mondo track, a grass infield as well as a full hammer cage and multiple throw areas. The pole vault and jumping pits are reversible and contain two sets of runways to accommodate multiple events. Capacity is currently set at 7,000 but has the potential to hold 10,000 with additional construction.

The new John McDonnell Field played host to the 2006 Southeastern Conference Championships and the 2008 NCAA Midwest Regional Championships in addition to the annual John McDonnell Invitational. The SEC meet was the first in what promises to be a long line of prominent events slated for the new facility. Future events at the facility will likely include national junior events and the 2009 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Arkansas Razorback Women's Track & Field

2008 Olympic Games

The 2008 Summer Olympic Games saw 10 former Arkansas Razorback student-athletes make the trip to Beijing in representation of four countries.

Arkansas women's track and field had six of its former student-athletes competing in Beijing. Nicole Teter (800 meters), Christin Wurth-Thomas (1,500 meters), Amy Yoder Begley (10,000 meters), Deena Kastor (marathon), April Steiner Bennett (pole vault) and LaShaunte'a Moore (4x100-meter relay pool) represented Team USA while Veronica Campbell-Brown ran the 200 meters and as a member of the 4x100-meter relay for Team Jamaica.

Campbell-Brown, the first Razorback women's Olympic gold medalist in UA school history at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, won the gold medal with a personal-best time of 21.74 in Beijing. Her new medal was the fifth in her collection and she became only the second woman in history to successfully defend the Olympic 200-meter title. Her clocking, 21.74, is eighth on the all-time list. She also served as Jamaica's flag bearer at the Opening Ceremonies.

Deena Kastor was also after another Olympic medal in Beijing, after having won bronze in the marathon in 2004. In her third Olympic competition in Beijing, Kastor failed to finish the competition after experiencing discomfort in her right foot five kilometers into the race.

Nicole Teter, another multi-time Olympian for the Razorback women, competed in her second Olympic Games in Beijing after qualifying at 800 meters in the 2004 games at Athens. A leg injury kept Teter from even completing a lap, as she stepped off the track 100 meters into the race with tears streaming down her face.

"I really thought I could just step on the track and get through it," Teter said. "This is the Olympics. I had to go for it. My first stride, I just couldn't get on my toes. I went as far as I could and I just couldn't do it."

April Steiner Bennett finished eighth in the women's pole vault competition, clearing a personal-best 14-11. It was her first Olympic competition, and she couldn't help but feel the emotion.

"I walked out of the tunnel and onto the track and I started to cry," Steiner Bennett said. "It was just so overwhelming."

Cristin Wurth-Thomas dittoed Steiner Bennett's performance by posting an eighth-place finish of her own in her heat of the 1,500 meters. She posted a time of 4:09.70 in her first dose of competition at the Olympic Games.

Amy Yoder Begley, one of the most decorated women's track athletes in Razorback history, also saw her first dose of action in Olympic competition when she competed in the final at 10,000 meters. Her road to Beijing was one of trials and tribulations.

Immediately after finishing third at the US trials in Eugene, Ore., Yoder Begley was still uncertain as to whether or not she had made the time standard required to make the Olympic team. Needing to meet the Olympic A standard of 31:45.0, Yoder Begley cut it close and initially thought she was over the standard.

"The best way to describe my feelings was I was emotionally paralyzed," she said. "I was so crushed and so I just laid down on the track because I didn't know what else to do."

As it turned out, she was credited with posting a time of 31:43.60, 1.4 seconds under the standard.

"I couldn't believe it," Yoder Begley said. "I went from this incredible low to this incredible high instantaneously."
